1. Jaclyn using the EM-38 to measure the soil magnetic susceptibility over one of the Iron Age house foundations they mapped.
2. Jaclyn measuring the depth of the center of the iron age house foundation she was mapping.
3. Jaclyn using her compass to find direct coordinates of the foundation rocks in order to make an accurate map of the foundation.