Introduction

This manual has been created for supervisors and account managers of Texas A&M University at Galveston that employ student workers. The Human Resources Department hopes this information will help simplify your life as an employer and give you a better understanding of how student employment works. We welcome suggestions for improvement.

Our Mission

Student Employment is designed to help students pursue their educational goals by providing employment resources and professional development opportunities.

Disclaimer

As an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer, Texas A&M University at Galveston employs student workers without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, sex, or race. It is acceptable to hire students on the basis of sex or age ONLY if those factors are bona fide occupational qualifications for the particular job (i.e., locker room attendant, etc.).
Estimating How Many Student Workers You Will Need

A few things to consider when determining how many students to hire:

Remember that a student worker's first responsibility is to his/her academic pursuits. You will need to be flexible to the student’s academic schedule and responsibilities, as this will dictate their availability to work.

A student worker should never be used to replace a full-time position.

Determine the resources available to hire student workers. Keep in mind if you are hiring students through the Federal or State Work Study Program, they are limited by their award amount. You may be better off hiring two or three students working 7-12 hours each week than one student working 20 hours each week and running out of funding at the end of the semester.

The best approach to estimate how many students you will need is to determine the duties you want them to perform, and the number of hours it will take to complete each task. For example: If it would take the equivalent of one full time (40/week) employee to compete a task, consider hiring three Student Workers.

What is a Student Worker?
A student worker is any Texas A&M University at Galveston student working on campus. Departments pay 100% of the student’s wages. Student Workers are processed under the Student Worker Title Codes established by the Human Resources Department.

What is a Work Study (WS) Employee?
A WS Employee is any Texas A&M University at Galveston student awarded Work Study funding through the Department of Student Financial Aid. Work Study is funded through Federal and State programs.

Non-Affiliated Student Workers
A non-affiliated student worker is a student enrolled in an educational institution other than TAMUG. Verification of enrollment is required.

How do you process a Non-Affiliated Student Worker for payroll?
Departments will complete the same paperwork required for affiliated student workers. Non-Affiliated Student Workers complete the SAME student worker application as TAMUG students do. The hiring department must generate an EPA using the correct Non-Affiliated Student Worker title code.

Student Worker Employment Rules

1. Students MUST be enrolled for a minimum of 6 semester credit hours during the fall/spring semester; 3 hours during the summer session(s); be pre-enrolled for the following fall semester in order to be eligible for employment in a Student Worker, Student Technician, or Community Leader position.

2. Students MUST have an acceptable academic record with a minimum of a 2.0 cumulative GPA and be approved through their academic department. Any student whose cumulative GPA falls below 2.0 must complete a Probationary Employment Exemption form and get approval from the Vice President for Academic Affairs. This form is available from the Human Resources Office.

3. Students may work the following number of hours:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>When enrolled in:</th>
<th>Maximum # Hours/Week</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>6 hours or more during fall or spring semesters</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4 hours or more during either summer session</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 hours or less during either summer session</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Not enrolled for either summer session</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(Must be pre-enrolled for the fall semester)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>40</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Departments with exceptional need may (with approval) work a student worker up to a maximum of 40 hours per week. A memo outlining the need and/or detriment to the department should be created by the hiring supervisor, routed through the Department Head, through the Human Resources Office, to Dr. Donna Lang. Students may not begin the augmented work schedule without the approval.

Departments may retain a graduating senior through the end of the month of their graduation (May 31st or December 31st – dependent upon the University’s last day worked prior to the Holiday Break). After that date, they must be taken off payroll. EXCEPTION TO THE RULE: If the student has been ACCEPTED into the TAMUG Graduate program, then they may be retained in their student worker capacity through August 31st for May graduates. Proof of acceptance is required.

Posting a Position

By posting student employment positions with the Human Resources Office, this allows all Texas A&M University at Galveston students to have access to all positions. They can be found on the TAMUG Student Employment Website at http://www.tamug.edu/hrd/Student_Employment_Home.htm.

Print and complete a TAMUG Student Worker Job Posting Request Form found on the Student Employment Website at http://www.tamug.edu/hrd/TAMUG_Student_Worker_Job_Posting_Request_Form.doc. Forward the completed request form to the Human Resources Office for posting. All job openings must be posted for a minimum of five (5) business working days prior to an offer of employment being extended. You must notify the Human Resources Office when your job(s) have been filled.

You (the employing department) are responsible for the collection and retention (current fiscal year plus two) of all application materials turned in by the students who are applying for your vacancy whether they are hired or not. When application materials have gone beyond the two fiscal year retention requirement, they may be destroyed in accordance with the State of Texas Record Retention Guidelines (they must be shredded).

Job vacancies not listed with the Human Resources Office will not be filled. All student job vacancies must be posted through the Human Resources Office.
Interviewing Tips

For the supervisor, interviewing is a time to gather information about the candidate. For the student, interviewing is an invaluable lesson. A student’s professional development begins with the application and interview process. Here are a few tips to help you begin your interview process.

- Make your list of interview questions before the interview. Use open-ended questions and try to avoid yes/no questions.
- Introduce yourself and provide a brief overview of the position before you start asking the applicant questions.
- All candidates should be asked the same basic questions in the same manner.
- Inform the applicant when they can expect to hear of your decision.
- Rate each applicant immediately after the interview. If you wait, the information will not be as easily recalled.
- When the position is filled, contact the Human Resources Office to close the position.
- Maintain all documentation from interview for two (2) years from the interview date.

Sample Interview Questions

* EEOC Interviewing Guidelines prohibit asking questions about race, age, marital status, number of children, religion, or any other subject that could be perceived as discriminatory.

1) Why does this position interest you?
2) What skills and experience can you bring to this position and our office?
3) What are your strengths and weaknesses? How do you measure success?
4) Give me an example where you had difficulty communicating with someone and how you resolved it.
5) What motivates you?
6) What campus organizations are you involved in or do you belong to?
7) Under what conditions do you do your best work?
8) Tell me about a time you had to surmount an obstacle to reach a goal. What was the problem, and what did you do about it?
9) Tell me/us briefly about yourself.
10) What is your current course load? Will you be able to work at least ____ hours per week?
11) What experience do you have working with the public?
12) Confidentiality. Are you capable of not repeating things you hear or see in this office/department to anyone outside this office/department? Are you willing to sign a confidentiality agreement if required?
13) We require _________ attire in this office/department. Do you have any problems with that type of dress code?

Making the Job Offer

1) Determine if you are going to hire the student under the work-study program or as a regular student worker.
2) Determine the rate of pay as outlined in this manual.
3) Make the offer of employment.
4) If the student accepts the offer, notify Human Resources so that the vacancy posting can be closed. Should you need additional student workers, you would need to re-post the position.
5) Follow the steps in Section II – Getting Them on Payroll.
Federal & State Work- Study

What is Work Study?
This program provides jobs for undergraduate and graduate students with financial need, allowing them to earn money to help pay educational expenses and reduce loan debt while work study subsidizes a portion of their wages.

Who is eligible for the Work Study Program?
Students that complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and demonstrate “need” for financial aid are eligible for the Work Study Program (Federal or State). Financial need is defined as the difference between the cost of attendance (COA), other aid (AID), and the expected family contribution (EFC). If the EFC and AID added together is not enough to cover COA, the student is considered to have financial need.

How does Work Study benefit the Employer?
This program allows the employer to hire more people with the same amount of money. The department is required to pay a percentage (25%) of the hourly rate offered to the student, plus the employer’s taxes (FICA, WCI, UCI). The federal/state government pays the remaining percentage (75%).

What is the employment process of a Work Study?
Follow the same procedures for hiring and working a work-study student employee as you would for hiring and working a non-work-study student employee.

* A student’s award may change at any time. Changes to their financial aid package may require adjustments to the amount of work-study funding they were originally awarded. It is the student’s responsibility to notify their employer of changes made. Students are sent notification any time changes are made to their financial aid package.

How much funding can be awarded and how many hours can a WS student employee work?
Students may receive up to $5000 for the academic year depending on their demonstrated financial need and aid eligibility. A typical award is $3000 per year. The award dictates the number of hours. Most students average 13-18 hours per week. Students are permitted to work additional hours when classes are not in session, if the department has sufficient funds to cover additional hours as a Student Worker or Student Technician. Work Study Students may not work more than 20 hours per week.

Work Study Students Volunteering
The Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, prohibits employers (including schools) from accepting voluntary services from any paid employee. Any student under FWS must be paid for all hours worked.

PLEASE NOTE:
Students are not allowed to submit hours for time worked during scheduled classes, even if the class receives a walk.
How do I document time for a student?
TimeTraq should be used to record time for all student employees.

- Student employees may NOT estimate time per federal regulations. Hours may only be submitted AFTER the work is performed. Once the hours are worked they may be submitted in TimeTraq for the next payroll period. (i.e. Beginning of the new fiscal year, Thanksgiving holiday, the winter break, and spring break.)

- Make sure that the actual number of hours worked per day are recorded accurately in TimeTraq.

- Before submitting a timesheet in TimeTraq, check the time conversions carefully. (Round to the nearest quarter.)

- Make sure the student’s supervisor or his/her delegate has approved the time sheet in TimeTraq.

Where do my work-study students’ paychecks go?
Texas A&M University at Galveston is a direct deposit campus. All student workers should already be on direct deposit. If they are not, they need to log into Single Sign On and go into the “Payroll Data” tab to enter their financial institution information prior to the next payroll processing date.

How does my department go about paying its share of the work-study?
The department’s account is debited for its share of the student’s wages. After TimeTraq has been submitted, voucher details will be issued. These vouchers will itemize each work-study student paid from the departmental account. The remaining portion of the student’s wages will be debited from either the federal or state work-study account.

What happens if a student does exceed his or her allocation, or there’s a change in the award and the student gets paid anyway?
The amount exceeded will be charged back to the department. The Payroll Office will initiate all fund switches and will notify the departments.

What happens to a student’s allocation if it is not used?
At the end of the spring term, all unused monies are put back into the general allocation. Funds will not be rolled over to the next academic term.

My student submitted his/her time sheets in TimeTraq after the yearly deadline to use work-study funds. Will he/she get paid?
All hours worked past the last date of the academic year must be paid from departmental funds. The last day is in mid-May for the fall/spring term and mid August for the summer term. Contact the Student Financial Aid Office to find out the last date that hours worked can be submitted for the academic year.
Determining the Rate of Pay

Refer to the Student Employee Pay Scale below. You may start a Student Worker at any hourly rate within the pay range.

Minimum Pay
Student workers must be paid at least minimum wage per the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Student Employee Pay Scale

The rate of pay should be determined based upon employment/academic experience and level of responsibility. Federal Work Study and Texas College Work Study students should be compensated with the same consideration as non work-study students. Also, it is the responsibility of the hiring department to ensure that students working under the student employee title codes are eligible for student positions (i.e., enrolled or pre-registered for the following semester at TAMUG, or another institution if non-affiliated student worker).

For rate increases or promotions, a justification memo must be routed for approval through your department head, to the Executive Director of Human Resources. A performance evaluation must also be attached (see page 21 for more information regarding Student Employee Performance Evaluations). Any student worker not meeting the necessary requirements will not be approved for the requested action.

The descriptions on the following page are to be used as a guide for placing student workers in an appropriate job title. Hiring departments should consider both experience and level of responsibility in determining a starting rate of pay.
Student Worker Job Descriptions

Student Worker (7561)/Non-Affiliated Student Worker (7567)

Employees with only a few special skills and little or no previous training or work experience extending to persons with a high degree of analytical thinking and independent judgment, in addition to extensive previous training and experience. The work performed involves decision-making, normally requires supervision of other student workers and may be an essential function of departmental operations.

Student Technician (7565)/Non-Affiliated Student Technician (7571)

Persons classified at this level must have technical skills or knowledge of the job through previous training and experience, and would need little, if any, supervision. This position may be required to supervise other student workers and may be an essential function of departmental operations.

Community Leader - CL (7581)

The CL is an important member of the Residence Life staff. The CL reports directly to the supervising Student Development Specialist. Working together as a team, the CL will support and carry out objectives, policies and procedures of the TAMUG Division of Student Affairs and the Student Life Office.
Section II – Getting Them on the Payroll
Completing the Hiring Process

How to get your new student worker on payroll:

Congratulations! You have successfully hired a new student worker for your department. So now what do you do? Here are a couple of important steps that will help you in the process:

- Make a copy of the application (do not copy the Criminal Background Check Request Form) and provide that copy to your departmental account manager/admin for EPA processing
- Send the entire (completed) Student Worker Application Packet to the Human Resources Office for further processing
- All student workers must successfully complete a criminal history background check prior to reporting to the HR office for orientation.

New Student Employee Orientation

All A&M students employed as student workers with Texas A&M University at Galveston are required to complete the New Student Employee Orientation.

All new student workers reporting to the Human Resources Office for NSEO must bring the following documentation with them:

- Valid id required for completion of the Form I-9 (list of acceptable documents can be found on the back of the Form I-9; see example on page 33)
- ORIGINAL Social Security Card (this is for payroll purposes – no copies, faxes, or scans will be accepted). Laminated cards will also not be accepted. Card must also be signed in ink.
- Bank routing and account number for direct deposit set up

Orientations are held in the Human Resources Office on Tuesdays & Thursdays. Hours vary by semester.

Orientation consists of the following initial new hire paperwork:

- I-9 Employment Verification
- W-4 completion
- Direct Deposit & Online W-2 Notification Set Up
- Selective Service Registration confirmation - All male employees between the ages of 18 and 25 must show proof that they have registered with Selective Service. Students taking the New Student Employee Orientation on-line will certify their status during the session. The Selective Service System offers a comprehensive web page (http://www.sss.gov/) that provides information regarding the federal selective service law, how one registers, who is exempt from registration, and on-line verification.
- New Student Employee Online Certificate Training - Student employees must complete the online self-study in the Human Resources office at the time of orientation. When complete, the student will print 3 copies of the New Student Employee Orientation Certificate (Student copy, Employer copy, Human Resource copy). Students are responsible for retaining their Certificates to provide proof of eligibility to employers. THIS WILL BE COMPLETED IN THE HUMAN RESOURCES OFFICE AT THE APPROPRIATE TIME. DO NOT REFER STUDENTS TO THE JOBS FOR AGGIES WEBSITE FOR ORIENTATION.
The New Student Employee Online Orientation reviews the rights and responsibilities of employees of Texas A&M University at Galveston and the State of Texas. It is the responsibility of the Human Resources Office to ensure that all Texas A&M University at Galveston student employees will receive the following information:

- Overtime Policy for Non-Exempt Employees
- Ethics Policy
- HIV/AIDS in the Workplace & Learning Environment
- Sexual Harassment Policy
- Supplemental Retirement Investment Opportunities
- Payroll Deduction Verification
- Hazard Communication Program, Category 1 Training
- Benefits Eligibility
- Texas Workers Compensation Information
- Alcohol Abuse & Illicit Drug Use

New Student Worker Training through Career Services

As part of the Human Resources Department’s ongoing new student worker orientation process, TAMUG Career Services will be providing basic professional etiquette training to new student workers. Training sessions are scheduled to last approximately 60 minutes and cover topics including positive attitude, customer service, punctuality, attendance, proper work attire, phone etiquette, etc.

Workshops are presently being offered in the Library Large Study Room (#126).

Any and all student workers are welcome to attend and participation can be made mandatory at the discretion of each department. Departments may contact Ken Bailey (baileyk@tamug.edu or ext. 4725) to arrange for verification of attendance if participation is required.

Hiring Student Workers Who Have Previously Worked for the TAMU System

DO NOT assume the student has completed New Student Employee Orientation with their previous employer. Have the student provide a copy of the New Student Employee Orientation Certificate dated 8/96 or later. If not, the student must retake the orientation on-line.

When hiring a Work-Study student, the hiring department should provide an alternative source of funds to be used when/if the student’s allocation of Work-Study funds is expended. The employing department will do a new EPA document to move the student worker from work-study to non-work study funds. Employers and students must be sure to monitor funds and schedule hours responsibly.

Student workers should be treated with the same respect and dignity as all other employees. It may be necessary to allow student workers flexibility due to exams, class schedules, and other factors related to their student status. Because the students’ primary purpose is the pursuit of an education, employment should complement their educational goals. At the same time, employers should not expect any less in performance or accountability just because the employee is a student.
Student FICA Exemption

Texas A&M University at Galveston students who work for the University or other agencies within the TAMU System will be exempt from Social Security and Medicare coverage effective July 1, 2000.

In order to be considered eligible, students must be enrolled at least half-time at Texas A&M University at Galveston. The law allows each institution to define half-time. TAMUG uses the definitions set forth by the Registrar.

Work performed during school holidays and breaks between academic periods is eligible for the exemption if:

1. The break is less than 5 weeks long, and
2. The student is enrolled or eligible to enroll in the first academic period following the break.

However, if the break is longer than 5 weeks or the student is not enrolled or eligible to enroll in the next academic period, the student will not be eligible for the FICA exemption. Therefore, it is possible (or even probable) that a student employee will have some wages that were subject to FICA taxes and some wages that were exempt from FICA taxes during the same year.

Students hired under a title code other than the Student Employee Title Codes established by Human Resources Office or as a Graduate Assistant (Research, Teaching, or Non-Teaching) will not be considered for this exemption.

For more information, contact University Payroll Services at 979-845-2711 or visit the website at http://www.tamus.edu/offices/budgets-acct/tax/taxmanual/appendixc.html.
Section III – Supervising Student Workers
Supervisor’s Role

National Student Employment Association statistics show that nearly two-thirds of today’s college students hold part- or full-time jobs while in school. Student Employment is an important educational experience, and an alternative form of financial aid. It is a means of preparing for a meaningful career by developing skills and contacts that will help secure a job after graduation.

Supervisors play a key role in students’ future employment success. Every effort should be made to encourage student employees to develop characteristics of good judgment, dependability, initiative, and responsibility.

Supervisors of Students as Teachers (from NSEA Student Employment Essentials)

Supervisors of student workers have the opportunity to teach lessons not found in a college classroom. In the best student work programs, supervisors understand what values may be gained through work experience, and they do their best to ensure that students understand and develop the skills and traits that will complement their academic program. Taking responsibility for a part-time job under effective supervision enhances employment options after graduation.

Work helps prepare a student for modern office culture, and promote constructive employer/employee relationships. Students express ingenuity and creativity, as they are encouraged to make improvements in their job situation. Working students also develop good habits such as consistency, dependability, cooperation, tact and poise, and learn responsibility through meeting work schedules and quality requirements. Students are often able to find jobs that relate to their academic subjects, which further foster new interests and abilities.

Supervisors, then, have two responsibilities: concern for the development of the student as a worker, and also for the worker as a student. The best supervisors treat their student workers as individuals, and understand that student workers have other interests and responsibilities. They make the work of the student seem interesting, significant, and worthwhile to both supervisor and student.
Supervisor Responsibilities

The Human Resources Office understands that office structures vary and that the following responsibilities may fall in different places throughout your department. Supervisors need to make sure that all resources and information are available to the student.

♦ Expectations
   Communicate the job standards, requirements, and expectations to your student employees. One should not assume these are self-evident to the student, even though they may seem obvious to you.

♦ Establish Policies
   Establish internal policies and communicate them to the student employees to ensure that all employees understand the office rules.

♦ Training
   Train students to successfully carry out the duties and responsibilities of their job and supply any other information they may need. (i.e. line of authority, where and how to report absences, breaks, schedule changes, etc.)

♦ Inform
   Keep students informed of any changes in procedure, scheduling, or working conditions.

♦ Coordinate Work Schedule
   Work with student employees to ensure school and work schedules compliment each other. If you set the work schedules, allow time before/during/after work for students to eat, arrive at next class on time, etc.

♦ Report Hours
   See that each student’s work hours are reported accurately and on time. Monitor the College Work Study allocation for each student on Federal or State CWS to prevent overpayment.

♦ Assignments
   Be prepared for students’ daily arrival and have assignments ready.

♦ Consistency
   Treat all student workers with the same respect and have the same expectations of everyone.

♦ Discipline
   Correct inappropriate behavior as soon as possible. Explain why the behavior was inappropriate or incorrect and how to remedy the situation. Try to resolve any problems pertaining to job performance or working relations at the time of the incident.

♦ Develop Good Relations
   Develop good supervisor/student relations among student employees. This is not a “friendly” or “parental” relationship, but a professional association intended to foster mutual trust, respect, and a genuine interest in meeting the goals of the student, the department, and the University.
♦ Be an Example
Model strong work habits through efficient, dedicated work practices. Let your own approach to daily work be an example from which students can learn.

♦ Be Flexible
Understand that student employees are students first, and employees second. Though it is important to have high standards on the job, it is also important to be flexible in order to accommodate academic obligations.

♦ Give Feedback Frequently
Provide consistent and appropriate feedback to your student employees. Students, like all employees, benefit from feedback in job performance, providing it is communicated with a positive spirit and the goal of helping the student to succeed.

♦ Be Fair
Supervisors who are too lenient or view students as children are not doing students any favors. Student jobs are “real jobs”. Treat student employees as you would like to be treated in a similar situation.

♦ Be a Team Player
As the team leader, develop and nurture the unique contributions of each team member. Take a global perspective.

♦ Give Recognition
When you see a student “going the extra mile”, acknowledge this in front of other staff and peers. People need to feel appreciated.

♦ Share Your Vision
Have regular staff meetings with your student employees, and inform them how their work fits into a larger purpose of the department and the institution.

♦ Be an Educator
To the degree that we each contribute to the lives of others, we are all educators. Do your part in helping the university to produce graduates that are quality employees.
Breaks and Lunches

Texas A&M University at Galveston has no established policy on breaks. Employees should refer questions regarding breaks to their supervisors.

Many employers and employees mistakenly believe that FLSA (Fair Labor Standards Act) requires employers to give workers such things as coffee breaks, lunch breaks, and paid holidays. The fact is that the FLSA does not require employers to allow any breaks, vacation or sick leave, group insurance, paid holidays, or premium pay for nighttime, weekend, or holiday work beyond normal overtime pay. Such things are all optional benefits an employer may decide on its own to offer to its employees. Employers must simply pay at least minimum wage for all hours worked and overtime for any work in excess of 40 hours in a week. (Excerpt from the Texas Workforce Commission “Especially for Texas Employees” handbook, 1998)

Training

When training a student employee, go through every work procedure step by step, explaining everything in detail. Do not assume the student knows what needs to be done, and how to do it. Procedures that seem simple and obvious to you may be confusing to a new student employee. Ask for feedback, it is the best way to make sure your student understands the instructions given.

Tips for Training

Be sure to instruct new employees on the following:

- What to say when answering the phone.
- How to transfer calls.
- How to put calls on hold.
- What to say if someone is out of the office.
- Logging on to the computer.
- Answers to commonly asked questions.
- Frequently used phone numbers list.
- How to complete a time sheet.
- Areas of responsibility in the office (who does what).

Make sure the student understands all the conditions of employment. These conditions should be stated in writing and include information such as: job description, starting pay rate, work hours, rights, responsibilities, and any additional departmental personnel policies.
Student Employee Evaluations

Performance assessments can be a valuable tool in communicating expectations to employees and receiving feedback.

Am I required to evaluate student employees?
While a best business practice, performance evaluations for student workers are optional. They provide vital feedback and should let the student know how their job performance is going and of any areas that need improvement.

EXCEPTION TO THE RULE: Evaluations are required before taking the following actions:
1) promotion (student worker to student technician),
2) a merit increase (any type of pay increase),
3) or when retaining a student who has been employed for more than six months for the next fiscal year.

Evaluations are not meant to reprimand a student whose performance is lacking. They serve as an excellent opportunity to recognize outstanding employees for a job well done and to help motivate students that are below expectation.

Points to remember when evaluating student employees
- There should be no surprises. Do not bring up something that has not been mentioned before.
- Get feedback from team members and supervisor.
- Focus on learning and development. Focus on the means not just the ends.
- Help employees celebrate their success and failure of learning by experience. Prepare people to take risks by creating a safe environment.
- You must let go when the time is right and let them “peddle on their own”.
- Collect information on projects and tasks as you go along; keep a file of achievements and accomplishments; do not wait until just before evaluation to do it or you will forget many things.
- Manage by walking around. Get out and see what the employees are doing in their jobs and what really goes on.

How often should I evaluate my student employees?
We recommend that student employees are evaluated annually. Some departments may choose to review their employees more frequently depending on the nature of their work.

What forms should I use to evaluate my student employees?
The Student Employee Evaluation form was developed by the Human Resources Office. The A-D scale is used on each section along with a space for comments about each skill. (See Forms)
Section IV – National Student Employment Week
National Student Employment Week

The second full week of April each year, Texas A&M University at Galveston joins the National Student Employment Association, the Southern Association of Student Employment Administrators, and hundreds of colleges and universities across the nation in celebrating National Student Employment Week (NSEW).

We all value our student employees for the multitude of roles they fill in our offices, as well as the contributions they make to our establishments. This week gives us the opportunity to show our appreciation for these contributions, and the juncture to draw awareness, both on and off campus, of the influences student employees make in our day-to-day operations.

Ideas on how your office can help to celebrate NSEW

- Create your own celebration/award ceremony.
- Take your student employees out to lunch.
- Bring cookies/cake for the students.
- Have lunch catered to the office.
- Have “Secret Pals” throughout the week between full-time and part-time staff.
- Give gift certificates to local restaurants or movie theaters.
- Have a bowling party.
- Write them a note of thanks.
- Prepare a “Thank You” goodie bag.
- Give them flowers or balloons.
- Create a bulletin board honoring the students in your department/office. Take pictures of the student employees and list what wonderful things they do for your department.
- Coupon Booklets - this is always a hit with students! Insert coupons for a free can of soda, movie night at the boss’ house (everyone needs to redeem for this one), one dozen home baked goodies, etc. Be creative in designing your own coupons.
- Notes Home - send a note to the families of your student employees. Let them know what the student does, how their work impacts your department, and how terrific the student is.
- Buy low cost, blank certificates to show appreciation or make up silly awards for students: best telephone voice, best web-surfer, etc.
- Friendship Plants - take cuttings from a plant in the office and give to each student as a live "connection" to the office.
- Bright Ideas - spray paint a light bulb gold, screw into a jar of play-dough and make a label around the jar naming who is receiving the "Bright Idea" award.
- Good Egg Award - buy plastic Easter Eggs, fill with goodies and give out with "Good Egg" certificates. List what the student did to deserve this award.
- Pat on the Back - Draw an outline of your hand on a piece of paper. Photocopy enough copies for all students in your office. On each hand write a note that tells the student why they deserve a "Pat on the Back".
- Look around the office or at home for a white elephant item. Name the item for the award (Employee of the Month/Week, Great Idea Award, Gotcha Award) - catch someone in the act of doing something good and then make the first presentation of it during Student Employment Week.
- Make a banner to hang for the whole week in your office.
- Chalk the sidewalk in front of your office saying "thanks" to your student workers.
ENCOURAGE ALL STUDENT EMPLOYEES TO ATTEND THE RECEPTION IN THEIR HONOR!
