

Cronovich Education and Benevolence Trust Endowed Opportunity Award

Established in 2023 by Cronovich Education and Benevolence Trust

As a trustee to the Cronovich Education and Benevolence Trust, Perry Reed '76 has directed funds to support five Endowed Opportunity Award scholarships, one of which will support Galveston students who are residents of Galveston, Gregg, or Upshur counties and who work part-time or participate in community service.

The gift continues the benevolence of the late Peter Cronovich, who established the trust fund before his passing in 2016. The other four scholarships will support student veterans at the College Station campus and residents of Galveston, Gregg, or Upshur counties who are pursuing degrees in business and engineering at the College Station campus.

Perry received his bachelor's in finance from Texas A&M University before becoming the administrative manager of H.B. Zachry Company, a construction engineering company. He eventually took on his current position as president of Peery D. Ree & Company, a tax preparation service. Reed hopes these scholarships reward students for their respective successes and encourage their dreams of pursuing higher education.
