Celebrating 60 Years of Marine & Maritime Excellence

Texas A&M University at Galveston and the Texas A&M Maritime Academy are celebrating 60 years of marine and maritime excellence.

The campus owes its creation to the tireless efforts of Galveston community leaders, elected officials and senior administrators at Texas A&M, who were galvanized by a simple question in 1958 and began a four-year campaign to establish a state maritime academy in Galveston.

LEARN MORE

About Bldg. 311

Building 311 at Fort Crockett is where our marine science and maritime origins converged.

Read more...

Former Students Continue the Tradition of Service

Meet the Sea Aggies who continue the tradition of selfless service through their volunteer work with the Sea Aggie Former Student Network.

Read more...

New Institute for Conservation of Coastal and Offshore Fishes

The Texas A&M University System Board of Regents authorized the creation of the Gulf Research Institute for Highly Migratory Species at Texas A&M University at Galveston to aid in gathering critical data on habitat requirements, life history and migration of highly migratory species to enhance protection and conservation measures in the Gulf of Mexico.

Read more...

GALVESTON AGGIES ARE GETTING SOME BLING

The Texas A&M University at Galveston Aggie Ring Statue is currently in progress...

Watch the video...

Pursue Your Passion: Marine Engineering Technology

"We're right in the port of Galveston, we have the ability to see every single day what our future looks like."

Two marine engineering technology student leaders share what fuels their passions and explain the career opportunities that come with a marine engineering technology degree at Texas A&M at Galveston.

Watch the video...
CAMPUS EVENTS

Nov. 11:
- Ring Day

Nov. 19:
- Corps March In #2
- Texas A&M-Galveston Tailgate

Nov. 30:
- International WorkBoat Show

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT

The Law of the Ocean Applies to All

Galveston Campus Welcomes New Chief Academic Officer

Texas A&M-Galveston Marine Engineering Technology Department & Head Honored as Winners of Engineering Award